ALL FOR BLAINE. The Pacific Coast Delegates All Want

Blaine-A Day at Denver. DENVER, June 14th.—That portion of the Pacific coast delegation consisting of Cali-fornia, Oregon and Nevada arrived in this city at 6 o'clock this morning over the Union Pacific. Most of the delegates and visitors are accompanied by their wives. The party consists of 160 people and the train is composed of seven sleepers, dining, commissary and baggage cars, and is without doubt the nicest-equipped train that ever crossed the continuation. ever crossed the continent On their arrival the delegation were met by members of the Union Club and a committee of citizens, who entertained them by a carriage drive over the city during the morning and a reception at the Chamber of Commerce in the afternoon.

The three delegations held a meeting yesterday, at which Creed Haymond, of California was chosen Cheirman delegations at the Chamber of theme. There is but one voice as to the platform that will be adopted, and its main beam will be that of protection to the industries of the people. gation, in a conversation upon the political situation, said: "The Pacific coast is a unit for Blaine. We want no other, and will have none other, unless it is impossible for us to prevail upon him to accept the prominetion. We have the accept the prominetion. We have the accept the nomination. We have thought of no ther man, and have no second choice, nor have we yet given the second place on the ticket any consideration.'

Charles F. Crocker expressed the same idea as to the choice of the people of the West, and added: "While we are all for Blaine, we do not desire to have the people nderstand that we will cast our votes solid for him on the first ballot. If Blaine will not accept, we will consult with our friends from Indiana, New York and other States, and will then support the candidate who will have the greatest influence in carrying the doubtful States. We have not yet thought of a candidate for Vice-President, and will give no attention to his until we have determined upon a man to fill the first place. We have only one thing to ask of the Convention. We will present the name of M. M. Estee, of Napa, for temporary Chairman, and would like to see him unanimously elected." M. D. Foley, Chairman of the [Nevada?] delegation, said: "We want Blaine, but it it the best the Democrats could put up. Thurman has always been a great favorite with us, and I think he will be the means my other Democrat in the country. My honest opinion is that the head of the Democratic ticket is at the tail." Barin, Chairman of the Oregou, delega-tion, had nothing to say, except that they were all for Blaine. The party expressed hemselves as having had a most delightful

AGAIN ON THE ROAD. When the time of departure arrived (at 8 clock) several hundred citizizens and a number of Republican Clubs had assemled on the platform with brass-bands, and as the train pulled out the Pacific coasters were given a rousing farewell by their Denver friends, both Republicans and Democrats. They expect to arrive in Chicago at 10:30 on Saturday morning.

A National Committeeman Doesn't Want a Burchard for Chaplain.

CHICAGO, June 14th .- A meeting of the Republican National Committee was held to-day. The proceedings were opened by Clarkson, on behalf of the sub Committee n Arrangements, making a report conerning the plan of seating that had been adopted. The allotment of 200 more tickets to Chicago than the original 700 proposed number of tickets for local distribution was ecreased, being reduced from a total of Clarkson called attention to the matter of selecting a Chaplain. Several members of the committee at once interjected that a different Chaplain ever morning was desirable. One committeeman mischievously proposed that no Chaplain by selected by the name of Burchard. Another gentleman moved that the Chaplain's prayer every morning be submitted in manuscript, before delivery, to the Chairman of the Convention. Chairman Jones thought the officers of the Convention would have enough to do to attend to their own prayers.

The matter of prayers and Chaplains was them promptly relegated to the sub-Committee on Arrangements.

Without taking up the contests, of which there are several—including the important one from Virginia between the Mahone and Riddleberger delegations—or the appointment of temporary officers for the Convention, in which so much interest centers, the committee at 1 P. M. adjourned until 8 o'clock to-morrow night.

MATTERS IN CHICAGO.

Gresham and Harrison in Harmony-A Bomb Exploded. CHICAGO, June 14th.—The first combination between any two leading candidates for the Presidency was brought to a culmination to-day. The friends of Harrison and Gresham met quietly and in a short time their forces were harmonious. It was an Indiana family gathering. Among the Harrison leaders present were Attorthe Harrison leaders present were Attor-ney-General Mitchener, ex Congressman Peele and Secretary of State Griffin. Gresham's representatives included C. W. Fair-banks, State Senator Graham and Colonel Henry Drew. Both sides recognized the folly of the friends of the two Indiana men coming to Chicago to fight each other. The conference resulted in an understand-ing that the friends of Harrison and Gresham should not attack each other; that both sides should do the best they could for their men in the friendliest spirit, and that the Indiana delegates should vote solidly from start to finish. When it hould become evident in the Convention that Harrison could not be nominated, then Gresham should be accorded the support of his native State. The time when the dele gation should, in such contingency, begin voting for Gresham was left to the honor the Chicago Convention. Copyright, 1888, by the California Associated Press. Washington, June 14th.-There is absoutely nothing else talked about here tonight but the Chicago Convention. It is the one all-absorbing topic. In the corridors of the Capitol to-day and the lobbies of the hotels, and in every place where politicians are wont to congregate the out-look of the coming Convention is the one will be the one upon which the campaign will be no patchwork at Chicago, such as there was at St. Louis, and even the agility George De Golia of the California deleof the average Democratic politician will not be equal to dodging the issue of Pro-

As to which one of the many good men tioned will head the ticket, there is the widest divergence of opinion. The day has been prolific, however, in moves on the political chessboards. Three of importance have been made, each of which will hav considerable to do with the shaping o events next week. The first was the deci-sion reached in the afternoon to lay aside the tariff bill for one week, be ginning next Monday. This was brought about by the Republicans, who have purposely withheld their agreement to a limiting of the tariff debate, realizing that it would never do for them to absent themselves from the House while the tariff bill was up. They suggested to Mills and his brother-tariff-tinkers that, providing they would consent to lay aside their pet scheme for a week they (the Republicans), would consent to a limit being placed on the debate which would follow when the bill was again taken up. This the Demo-crats, after some wrangling, consented to. The Republican members will, therefore, we can't get him we will support the next best man. But before we express any choice we will wait and see what Colorado wants. Our interests are identical. We are for silver and lead, and for protection. I want to see all the delegates between the Missouri river and the Pacific ocean a unit in favor of these three, and intend to use all my efforts to secure this result. As to the ticket nominated at St. Louis, I think it the theory that the annual content of the ticket, and that, in his opinion, he was the best man that could be found. This statement gathers much significance from the close friendship of Phelps and Mr. Blaine, and is generally regarded as an indication of securing more votes for his party than that a large proportion of the Blaine men will support Harrison and Phelps.

Political move number three is one which may result in the checkmating of the Gresham boom. My information comes from a close personal friend of Mrs. Logan, who says that determined little woman has vowed that Judge Gresham shall not get the place. Her opposition comes from the ill-treatment of General Logan by Gresham when the former was in need of Gresh when the former was in need of Gresham's political aid, and that gentleman was appealed to by Mrs. Logan herself. He not only refused her request, but was, it is said, unkind in his criticism of her husband. Those who know Mrs. Logan know that when she makes up her mind to do a thing she generally succeeds. Certain it is that Judge Gresham would not be the first political grave this brilliant woman has had a prominent hand in dig-

The Sherman men are still making a good deal of noise, and although they are by no means to be ignored, some of their claims have been shown up as mere assumptions. Among others they have been claiming the entire delegation from North Carolina. Fifteen of that delegation special train, which will arrive at 10 o'clock. They will wear plug hats and have Major Nevis' Band. All Republicans more have announced themselves as favormore have announced themselves as favoring the little Alger boomlet. The latter is hard to find in Washington, and is generally supposed to be floating around in some northwestern locality, yet unknown.

REDERICK WILLIAM-WILLIAM VIC-TOR.

As we write, the dispatches announce Mr. Cleveland's term one particle better that the Emperor Frederick of Germany off than at the beginning. Additions in a comatose condition. We speak of him, therefore, as having practically passed away and left the reins of power to be held by other hands.

Because this event has been so long expected it creates little or no surprise. But far more than the death of his father is it momentous for Germany. Wilhelm had rounded out and finished his and compacting theretofore jealous States into an empire second for all true elements of greatness to no other. Frederick, however, had but just entered upon a course of political activity that, could its full purpose have been accomplished, would but have advanced her upon the path of progress to broader political freedom for her people than is enjoyed by those of any other monarchy of Europe.

Frederick was born October 18, 1831. He received a scientific education and was clothed with regalia as the Rector of Konigsberg University, In 1858 he married Victoria Adelaide, the Princess Royal of Great Britain. To the pair six children have been born, the eldest, William Victor, now succeeding to the Imperial throne. Frederick commanded the second Prussian army in 1866, and contributed to the decisive victory of Sadowa by his timely appearance at Chlum. In the Franco-German war of 1870-71 he commanded the South German forces. He achieved a remarkable victory at Weissenberg August 4th, and another August 6th at Worth, defeating Marshal McMahon disastrously. He took a leading part in the greater triumphs of the war, and especially during the seige of Paris. He was made a General and Field Marshal for campaigns. He was cool-headed, conservprogressive German movements. He was Prince of more than usually thoughtful turn, and of strong domestic tastes. Germany reposed great confidence in him, and he was looked forward to as the ideal of a wise and successful ruler.

Emperor Frederick recognized what every far-seeing politician of Europe clearly sees, that behind German society are liberalizing forces which cannot be resisted without grave injury to the Empire. He saw long ago that while it would be impossible to turn the heart of his father from his idea of military strength as the one chief factor of imperial integrity, that nevertheless, the democratic spirit is growing in Germans; that liberal ideas are gaining ground daily throughout the Empire, and that its future bond of union must be that of intelligence and political freedom, rather than of military strength. He knew and frankly confessed it, that the idea of full representation of the people has for years been occupying German thought, and that what may be called republican sympathies have been taking root in the German heart; that reforms that will eventually render the relations between Kings and subjects only tolerable, are on foot in Germany, and that before them Emperors and Princes must bend. Instead of attempting to stem a tide that is irresistible, he choose to labor for the direction of its course. Had he been spared a few years longer Germany would have been found under a broader constitution, and enjoying representative forms and guarantees, and maintaining very much less of the rigor of Imperialism than now. An evidence of this fact is to be found in the warm partisanship of Frederick for the new franchise bill for Prussia, which is almost the counterpart of the English sys-

As Frederick the Emperor dies, the Emperor, Frederick William Victor, his son, lives. He was born in January, 1859, and hence ascends the Imperial throne a very young man. He is reported to be almost the exact opposite of his father in statesmanlike qualities, caution, foresight and in the direction of his ambition for Germany. It has never been taken up out of that condition it because of Mr. Thurman's "eccentricity in kerchiefs." As the difference between what each lady and her daughter paid is 63, we must select such numbers from the above table of squares that will conform with this condition. Thus, we have 64 and 1, 144 and 81, 1,024 and 961, and can have no others The first lady paid 64; her daughter paid The second lady paid 144; her daughter paid 81-63.

The third lady paid 1,024; her daughter paid 961-63. Hence, the first lady bought 8 yards; her daughter bought 1 yard. The second lady bought 12 yards; her daughter bought 3 yards. The third lady bought 32 yards her daughter bought 31 yards. Jane bought 23 yards less that Mrs. A. We cannot subtract 23 from 8 or 12, but can from 32, leaving a remainder of 9. Hence, the third lady is Mrs. A., and the daughter of the second lady is Jane. Again, Eliza bought 11 yards less than Mrs. H. We cannot subtract 11 from 8, but can from 12, leaving a remainder of 1. Hence, the second lady is Mrs. H., and the daughter of the first is Eliza. The first lady must be Mrs. R., and the daughter of the third lady Hence, the first lady is Mrs. R., and her

FOURTH OF JULY.

Meeting of the Executive Committee-A Magnificent Display of Fireworks. The Executive Committee of the Fourth of July celebration met at the Courthouse last evening. The attendance was quiet large and all are taking hold of the work with commendable enthusiasm.

The Committee on Literary Exercises reported that Attorney-General G. A. Johnson had consented to deliver the oration. Grand Marshal General Orton was present, and being called upon for an address, stated that he had as yet not had an opportunity to meet with the Parade Comm ing would be called at an early date, and all the preliminaries arranged.

TRADES DISPLAY. One of the grandest features in the Fourth of July parades in the past has been the trades display. It usually forms an entire division, and shows the tastes and patriotism of the local tradesmen. While they all incur more or less expense and the loss of several days in preparation, the advertise-ment it gives them, and the enterprising spirit they display is so commendable that ney make by it and add very materially to the pleasure of the day. PRICE OF SCHOOL BOOKS. The State Printer, Captain J. D. Young, reported the cost of publishing each of the series of school books. The report was read, ordered filed and spread upon the minutes. The report was exhaustive, and showed much care in its compilation. The Captain, who was present, made some said so far they had been extremely fortu-nate, having had no break-downs. He had been in the office but a few weeks when he became convinced that the books were being offered too cheap. The price was not sufficient to keep up the revolving fund, as intended by the Act of the Legislature. The estimates submitted by him would cover cost and keep up the fund. He would be at more expense for a short time, as the shipping of books would require additional packers and box-makers. He had put a circular saw in at the State Advanced Arithemetics. The price fixed yesterday made a clear profit to the purchasers of $615. The question of publishing a geography was discussed at considerable length. Professor More thought the best way for the State to do was to ask the Legislature to let them contract with some firm to furnish a geography. The cost of a plant would be so large and their editions printed so limited, that the books would cost too much. If we have several States to supply, so that the plant could be scattered over several large editions, then the price could be brought down materially.

Captain Young said that he understood that maps and engravings could be pro-cured for $7,000. The compilation would cost, say $4,000. He could, with those figures, get out 50,000 books for $34,000, superor in make and finish to the Eastern books sold at wholesale for 80 cents, and furnished pupils at from $1 25 to $1 50. He was positive the State could make the Geographies for 80 cents.

Superintendent Hoitt said while East be inquired the cost of maps and plates for both the Geographies, and they could be procured for $22,000. But this was not exactly what California wanted; they would have to be revised in many particu-

Flowers were received from Miss Annie L. Luther, Mrs. of geography. In his opinion it was one of the most important books in the series. Let us see if we can't arrange to have a good one compiled and made at home. It is true our market is limited. California is highly pleased with the exhibition and promised to stir up Tehama county in the matter of an exhibit.

Le Roi des Savons, King of Soaps, at 80c per box.

If you will take the trouble to inquire, you will find that other dealers are charging $1 per box for this soap. We make a profit on it at EIGHTY CENTS. We do not advertise this soap because we think it a bargain at 80 cents. We only want to show you that when dealers ask you more than 80 cents they are bound by a trust. Their business is regulated by outsiders. They are not free men. They dare not stand up for their rights, and they are members of a combination to force up the price of goods. We think they are bound so tight that there is not a retail dealer in the city who DARE sell King Soap at 80 cents per box. It is impossible to make a slave of a Yankee-they must have their own

THE RAILROADS. Opening of Branch Lines-Sunset Excursions During the Entire Year. On July 1st regular trains will begin running on several new branches and extensions of the Southern Pacific. The longest branch to be opened for traffic is a section of the Stockton and Tulare division, running southeasterly from Fresno seventy-one miles to Plano, a point in Southern Tulare county, about due east from Tipton, on the present Southern Pacific main line. Thirty-seven miles of the San Pedro and Tulare branch running south from Tracy to Newman on the west side of the San Joaquin, will be opened. Newman is a new town across the river from Hill's Ferry. Another extension to be opened is the Vaca Valley and Clear Lake line for twenty-four miles up the Capay valley to Rumsey, and regular trains will begin running also on the branch being built westerly from Willows, known as the Willows and Mendocino, and now completed for seventeer iles out to a point called Fruito. The popular "Sunset excursions" which the Southern Pacific has been running from Boston to Los Angeles every winter, are to be continued this year all through the summer. This step has been decided upon by reason of the inquiry about Cali-fornia in New England and the Middle States and the general movement of population westward, independent of the travelers whose journeys are controlled only by the seasons. These excursion trains are fitted with the tourist-sleeping cars, and each train is in charge of a deputized agent of the railroad company. Many of these excursionists are ticketed through to San Francisco, going only to the south because these excursions followed that route.
